

5-26-2008 Bob Peoples
VP-Public Relations
China Lake Museum Foundation
Phone 760-371-3160
Fax 760- 939-0564

PO Box 217
Ridgecrest, CA 93555
photos@pimages.com
<http://www.chinalakemuseum.org/>

Media Release

Media Release

CHINA LAKE MUSEUM FOUNDATION Launches revised web site at: <http://www.chinalakemuseum.org/>

The China Lake Museum Foundation is pleased to announce the completion of their website upgrade, thanks to a grant from Kern County Board of Trade. Through displays and education, the Museum explains to the public the extraordinary heritage of the Navy's achievements in air warfare and other areas, with a special focus on China Lake and its military-civilian-industry teamwork.

The Foundation, a (501 © (3)) organization directly supports the Museum in preserving and displaying the irreplaceable legacy of technology and weaponry for naval aviation's defense of our Nation. Through displays and education, the Museum explains to the public the extraordinary heritage of the Navy's achievements in air warfare and other areas, with a special focus on China Lake and its military-civilian-industry teamwork, which has continued to lead the nation's defense and technological excellence for nearly six decades

The web site, upgraded to take advantage of web site technology, is designed to present an efficient and more attractive introduction of the United States Naval Museum of Armament and Technology to potential visitors and informational seekers from the world wide web. The new web site has been updated to reflect current museum exhibits, a brief discussion of historical significance, discussion of the Secret City (China Lake), special events and community activities.

Informational links are available to acquaint the visitor to many tourism, educational, and historical attractions throughout the Eastern Sierras.

###